

Mr. Anilkumar DAVE

Head of Research, Technology Transfer and International Projects Unit
Technology Transfer and Innovation - T2i
Italy

Dr. Anilkumar Dave is an Italian citizen of Indian origin with global vocation (U.S.A. and India before setting down in Italy). After assignments in ICT sector as consultant between Italy and India (Textile/Clothing/Fashion, Banking, etc.) he started working with European Commission on several projects (as coordinator or partner) representing public and private bodies focusing Technology Transfer and interaction between Research and Industry. After being an officer for an Italian Government agency (aka Ministry of Economic Development-Institute for Industrial Promotion) he shifted again to consultant status working on main themes that have characterized his recent professional life, Innovation and Internationalization, for different stakeholders (i.e. institutions, industry, public admin.). At present he is Head of “Research, Technology Transfer and International projects” Unit for the largest innovation agency in Italy (aka T2i), coordinating and helping companies being more innovative (i.e. through international research project) and accessing European and other public funds. Mr. Dave is also acting as Advisor on Indian business development (in collaboration with the Indian delegation to Italy) and Strategy Counsellor for Research organizations as well as Fundraising Consultant. His last paper entitled “Inclusive innovation or inclusive growth? The evolutionary dilemma” was presented at the Vibrant Gujarat Global Summit 2015 and accepted at the last Evolutionary Economics-EMAEE conference (United Nations University) in Maastricht.